

305 million Americans working together will make a powerful difference

Now is a time for 305 million Americans to act together.

This year's hurricane season has led to severe hardship in many areas of the country.

If we work together to use energy wisely and efficiently, we can make an important difference in dealing with the aftermath, regardless of where we live.

America's oil and natural gas industry is committed to ensuring a reliable supply of energy. Industry and consumers alike can play a vital role by using available supplies wisely.

What steps can you take?

- 1 Plan trips carefully: Combine multiple trips into one to do your errands. Minimize stop-and-go driving by avoiding rush hours. Consider car pooling.
- 2 Maintain your car: Properly inflated tires can save up to 20 gallons of gasoline a year.
- 3 Drive efficiently: Unnecessary speedups and slowdowns can decrease fuel economy up to six miles per gallon at highway speeds. Accelerate slowly and avoid engine idling.
- 4 Slow down: Fuel economy decreases when you drive more than 60 miles per hour.

We will do everything we can to supply the energy you need.

We know you are counting on us. But by using energy wisely, you too can help make a difference.
